Love meeting

The meaningful workplace

As we navigate the world of remote and in-office work, we return to the workplace with high expectations for meeting spaces and collaboration technology. We go back into the office not only for focus work, but especially for face-to-face time, informal connection, coaching and collaboration with colleagues.

We are on the lookout for a meaningful workplace that helps us meet and work in the most optimal way. An ideal match between office design, technology and workstyle that fosters engagement, collaboration, and purpose. Office spaces should be designed for optimal flexibility and engagement, with technology at the core. Different types of meeting spaces foster collaboration and bring the flexibility organizations require today.

At ClickShare, we believe that designing technology with the user at the heart is key for a seamless and effective collaboration. 80% of employees believe that easy-to-use tech can make meetings better. And so do we!

When people meet, magic happens. And nothing should come in between. No distance, no walls, no cables and certainly no technology. That's where ClickShare comes in. Because it's time to love meeting again.

Automatic Room Switching Now Available

Flexible workplaces require flexible solutions. Meeting spaces need to accommodate different scenarios, users, and technologies, but they should all bring the same user experience.

With the 2.16 firmware update, ClickShare confirms its position as the most flexible collaboration solution on the market. It's inclusive and guest friendly, allowing anyone to host video calls or share content from their own device in any meeting space, thanks to automatic switching from an in-room video conferencing system to Bring Your Own Meeting mode.

Gone are the days of rigid setups and limited functionality: ClickShare enables the ultimate flexibility in every type of room.

What's new?

- › Automatic switching between fixed room system & BYOM
- › More opportunities for interaction
- › Ultrawide screen (21:9) support: the best option for visualizing content and people
- › Easier, complete, secure and remote device management
